FOREWORD

We present herewith our latest edition of the Petaluma, Cotati and Penngrove A to Z Directory for 1954-1955.

It is unsurpassed as an advertising medium, reaching over 7500 homes and business concerns of the Petaluma Trade Territory.

As usual, we are producing a Directory of Service to this community, with information not to be found in any other such publication. You will note our Classified Section, where we have endeavored to list all businesses and professions under their proper headings. Our advertisers with their Bold Blackface Listings have made this book possible. They are worthy of your support.

We appreciate the cooperation of the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce, where extra copies of this Directory may be obtained. Extra copies also at Petaluma Printing Company.

Truly, God has been good to this community, with its crystal mountain water, clear sunshine, and tempered breezes. The very earth seems to radiate with all the blessings of nature, and from it all comes the health, contentment and prosperity that has made this city famous as the white egg center of the world, and one of the most productive dairying and diversified farming sections in California.

Petaluma was founded in 1852, incorporated as a city in 1858 with a population of 5,000. Since those grand old days Petaluma, with the guidance and efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, has taken its place in the great State of California as a modern city of 12,000 people. The start of the world's most concentrated poultry industry was made in 1878 when Lyman C. Byce brought the first Leghorn chicks from Canada. The poultry industry from that time has grown and flourished until Petaluma is now known as the "World's Egg Basket."

Our close proximity to the bay area and the Pacific Ocean affords us all the advantages of beautiful scenery, together with a mild year 'round climate. Three hundred days of sunshine with very little fog, and cool evenings, make Petaluma an ideal location for working, playing, and living comfort. The little hills of Petaluma are dotted with bountiful fruit trees, making a constantly changing picture of beauty for all those who reside in this wonderland. This city is the only inland seaport in the county of Sonoma, having at our doorstep the Petaluma River serving this community transportation, fishing and boating.

Our basic economy is primarily in the production of eggs, meat birds and dairy products. We have a $36,000,000 poultry industry and a $10,000,000 dairy industry. Light manufacturing adds over $6,000,000 annually to our economy, making Petaluma one of the most stable communities in the state of California. We in this city enjoy the title of the trucking center of the bay area, with a multi-million dollar industry rolling over our highways and growing by leaps and bounds.

Petaluma has excellent nearby recreational areas and facilities. The City of Petaluma provides year 'round parks and a recreation department for community activities. There is a nine-hole golf course and a yacht club. Boating and fishing are favorite pastimes on the river. Nearby Bodega and Tomales Bays, Sonoma coast and Dillon Beach give the maximum of seashore enjoyment. Horseback riding and hiking over the pleasant countryside are also pastimes here. Petaluma has a community concert series and a fine municipal band. Many of the social activities revolve around the local clubs, lodges and organizations. There are over one hundred from which to choose. Citizens of Petaluma are sports enthusiasts, proud of their athletes, and supporters of some of the finest teams in the entire area. All in all, we in the Chamber of Commerce are proud to be a part of this gracious community, with its homey citizens, peaceful living, and mellow climate.

Publisher's Note

We have endeavored in this publication to give you a Directory of Service for the entire Petaluma, Cotati and Penngrove trading area. We hope we have not omitted any representative business in our classified section and we have tried to avoid errors in all our information herewith, and of course we cannot assume any responsibility for such errors or omissions. However, we do ask that you call our attention to any such mistakes, that we may avoid them in our next publication.

If you fail to receive your copy of the Directory—IT'S FREE—please call or advise the publishers.

NUMERICAL PHONE DIRECTORY

THE TELAKEY—Key to the Telephone Number

Frequently when you are out, someone calls up and leaves a Telephone Number for you to "call back" when you return. You would like to know who the party is, and thus decide whether to "call back" at once or later when you are not so busy, or after certain information has been secured, or perhaps you notice something advertised in the classified section of the newspaper with only the telephone number given. This "Telakey" will prove invaluable in supplying at once the desired information.
